- Science Alliance: Shaaban, Jason, Maddy, Jesse, Carmen W., Nick
Main point of developing it: to be active externally, learn from other universities, and create a stronger united fund
Plan for this year: set the ground, reach out to science undergraduate societies of various universities across Canada
- Abdul Ladha : Jesse, Carmen L., Nina
- Interfaculty Relations
- Clean up exec office

Comment:

Carmen W.: Too many projects, there are more projects than there are people

4. Campaign Training

- Not much update, execs need to fill out doodle
- Will take place on June 13th, 5-9pm
- Train with AUS, KUS, LFS, and EUS, execs should get to know their counterparts in other societies
- Training is initiated due to controversy behind Sauder frosh
- Examples of items to go through at training: privilege, inclusion
- Debating between a 1-day or a 2-day training
- 2 day training (2 hours/day)
Pros: follow up on 2nd day [however, follow up can be in another form, such as taking part in an online survey]
Cons: Hassle to commute to campus on 2 separate days, better to get it over and done with within a day

Comment:

Shaaban: feels that it is crucial for VP student life to attend training

5. Updates

Maddy

- EUS and KUS have appointed health and wellness commissioners to execute various health and wellness projects in the fall. SUS should also take into account the health and wellness aspect.
- Working on centralizing exam database and how clubs can have access to them, midterm evaluations
