Based on feedback from past executives and aggregate analysis of past executives’ academic performance, Science Advising strongly encourages elected executives to build their course schedule to include a maximum of 4 courses per term. This recommendation facilitates the necessary time to devote to your added responsibilities through SUS while maintaining capacity for personal balance and wellbeing.

Further to the course planning note above, Science Advising very strongly recommends that all candidates have an average of at least 60 percent prior to running in the SUS election. Students with averages between 60 and 65 percent are encouraged to make an appointment with an academic advisor in Science Advising prior to registration; this one-to-one appointment can support your course planning process and ensure that you have the necessary tools to be successful as a student and in your elected role.
